Letter from Chief Executive Officer, Mark E. Stoeckle

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

Slow global economic growth, a strong U.S. dollar, and the transition to a rising U.S. interest rate environment all weighed on the broader markets throughout 2015. As a result, the total return for the S&P 500 was 1.4%, with dividends accounting for all the gains. It was an even more challenging market for commodity stocks last year, which contributed to increased volatility and helped drive a pronounced divergence in performance across all sectors and individual securities.

As a fund focused on Energy and Materials, Adams Natural Resources Fund, Inc. was not immune to the pain experienced across both sectors last year. The Fund declined 19.1% on net asset value and 20.0% on market price. This was slightly better than our benchmark* that registered a loss of 20.1%. Our peer group, the Lipper Global Natural Resources Funds Index, fell 22.2%.

"We sought to construct the portfolio with well-managed companies, featuring low-cost structures and healthy balance sheets, which are best positioned against the current challenges"

2015 Market Recap

A host of factors conspired to drive oil prices lower throughout the year. China's slowing economic growth, a strong U.S. dollar, and supply growth that continued to outpace demand all put downward pressure on energy prices. A short-lived rally in the spring allowed oil prices to climb past $60 a barrel, but by year-end, the supply/demand imbalance resulted in West Texas Intermediate (WTI) oil prices falling 31% and natural gas prices declining 20%. As market participants saw last year, the direction of oil prices is the key influence on energy stock prices.

Looking at the supply side of the equation, the three largest energy-producing countries actually increased production last year despite the lower price environment. Shale oil production in the U.S. that pushed global crude markets into oversupplied conditions in 2014 continued to grow well into this year. The higher volumes surprised both industry participants as well as investors. OPEC stood firm in its resolve to regain market share. Saudi Arabia, the dominant producer within OPEC, responded by increasing production. Russia, the world's third-largest producer, also opted to keep output levels high. The net effect was record global oil production and a precipitous and volatile drop in prices, with crude oil closing the year at $37 barrel.

While OPEC increased production throughout the year, U.S. crude oil production began to decline in the second half of 2015. This was led by reductions in shale oil production, which had essentially been the sole source of non-OPEC supply growth over the past five years. After peaking at 9.7 million barrels per day (mbpd), U.S. output dropped to 9.1 mbpd in December. Still, production of crude oil averaged an estimated 9.3 mbpd in 2015, representing a 7% increase over 2014 and the highest production rate since 1972.

In a sign of how oversupplied the market was last year, risk premiums from geopolitical worries were just about non-existent at the close of the year. This, despite rising tension across the Middle East and protracted conflicts in Syria and Libya.

The persistence of cheap oil led to a severe domino effect across the sector as companies sought to preserve cash and resources. Capital spending for equipment and services dropped as industry executives reevaluated projects and slashed budgets in the face of dwindling cash flows. In the U.S., the rig count declined by over 60%. Global upstream spending fell by $170 billion, or 20% in 2015, creating a tremendous headwind for companies providing services and support for exploration and production operations.

Natural gas continued to deal with oversupplied conditions even as gas drilling activity has been in decline for over four years. Inventories continued to grow, thanks to greater well productivity, improving efficiencies, and increases in gas production associated with oil production. After peaking above $3.00 per million cubic feet (mcf) early in the year, natural gas prices closed 2015 at $2.34 per mcf.

When oil prices decline, companies that reside “closest to the well” generally suffer. Exploration and production (E&P) stocks in the benchmark fell 25.2%, while companies providing equipment and services to producers suffered a similar, though slightly lower, decline of 24.1%. Midstream companies, those that process, move and store oil and gas, were actually the worst performers due to balance sheet concerns and resulting pressure on company dividends. The midstream component logged a 51.5% decline. On the other extreme, refiners registered a 26.7% increase, as they benefited from lower-cost crude oil prices and rising demand for gasoline.

Basic Materials offered little respite despite the diverse nature of the industries that make up the sector. A 42.7% decline in metals and mining names in the benchmark, due to a continued imbalance between supply and demand, was mitigated by a far less severe 7.3% decline in chemicals, which benefited from low energy feedstock costs. In all, the Basic Materials sector registered a loss of 12.4%.

The Adams Difference

Years such as 2015, marked by volatility and short-term uncertainty, are typically characterized by a flight to quality among investors. We sought to construct the portfolio with well-managed companies, featuring low-cost structures and healthy balance sheets, which are best positioned against the current challenges. Historically, it's companies with these characteristics that emerge in a stronger competitive position when the cycle turns and they perform well over the long term.

We maintained our positions in large-cap integrated companies, including Chevron and Exxon Mobil. Along with strong balance sheets and diversified operations, their dividend yields provided income for the Fund in a declining market.

As the only industry that advanced in 2015, refiners were significant contributors to the Fund. Specifically, Marathon Petroleum and Phillips 66 delivered solid positive returns, helping to offset weakness in the other groups.

Within the E&P and oil equipment & services industry groups, which are extremely sensitive to oil prices, we focused on quality. In E&P, our holdings were concentrated in companies that are strategically positioned in the most productive shale-oil fields, such as the Permian and Eagle Ford basins in Texas. Investments in EOG Resources, Cimarex Energy, and Pioneer Natural Resources positioned the Fund to benefit from shale productivity improvement. These companies have also generated better profitability than their peers due to lower-cost structures than companies operating in less-efficient fields. In oil equipment & services, the best capitalized, best-in-class strategy guided our decision to be concentrated in industry bellwethers Schlumberger and Halliburton.

In Basic Materials, we outperformed the benchmark as we limited our exposure in metals and mining and focused our investments on the chemicals industry. In particular, we focused our investments in names with raw material cost advantages. Two of our best performing and largest positions were LyondellBasell Industries and Dow Chemical. Both benefited from an attractive cost structure and strong margins. Dow offered the added catalyst of engaging in value-enhancing deals throughout the year. In December, the company agreed to a $68.6 billion merger with rival DuPont.

Looking Ahead to 2016

Oil prices will likely continue to experience heightened volatility, at least in the beginning of the year. Since we take a long-term view on the sector, we are looking beyond the short-term unrest to the available opportunities that await when the supply-and-demand dynamics become more settled. What is clear today, however, is that sub-$40 oil fundamentally doesn't work for the industry, which makes the timing of the recovery uncertain.

Several unknowns include the pace and volume at which Iranian oil reenters the market, the strength of oil consumption growth overall, and what the U.S. production response resulting from the lower rig count will mean for crude oil supply. Answers to these questions could come in the latter half of this year. A surprise to the upside for oil prices is also a possibility based on geopolitical tensions, falling non-OPEC supply, or better than expected economic growth in China.

Longer-term, we believe that the self-correcting nature of the oil industry will result in a rebalancing of the market. This is predicated on assumptions that global demand continues to grow at its current rate and that OPEC members refrain from additional production increases. Still, with the prospect of "lower for longer" energy prices, we continue to focus on capital-efficient, high-quality companies until we have a reason for greater confidence in a sustained recovery.

Recent additions of Concho Resources and RSP Permian reflect that posture. Strong financials and balance sheets position these companies to grow production economically at relatively low prices and benefit as the commodity rebounds. We expect the Permian Basin to be the most impactful contributor to oil production growth, and Concho and RSP Permian both provide pure-play exposure to that particular shale-oil field.

In the last quarter of the year, we also saw an opportunity to enter the "clean energy" industry. With the extension of the U.S. investment tax credit for solar developments and a timely sell-off in First Solar, we capitalized on the opportunity to initiate a position in the company. This is consistent with our long-term approach, as the solar industry is poised to experience strong growth for years, if not decades. First Solar operates a vertically integrated business model, has developed differentiated technology, and maintains a pristine balance sheet. We believe that the company's emphasis on large commercial projects is preferable to other, more retail focused, solar strategies.

Make no mistake, the last eighteen months have been challenging for energy and materials stocks. However, our long-term focus and proven strategy help us find compelling opportunities during these periods of uncertainty. Through identifying high-quality companies that are executing well and trading at the right price, our track record reflects Adams Funds' ability to take advantage of market anomalies for the benefit of our shareholders.

By order of the Board of Directors,

Adams Natural Resources Fund, Inc. (the “Fund”) is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (“1940 Act”) as a non-diversified investment company. The Fund is an internally-managed closed-end fund specializing in energy and other natural resources stocks. The investment objectives of the Fund are preservation of capital, the attainment of reasonable income from investments, and an opportunity for capital appreciation.

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation — The accompanying financial statements were prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) for investment companies, which require the use of estimates by Fund management. Management believes that estimates and valuations are appropriate; however, actual results may differ from those estimates, and the valuations reflected in the financial statements may differ from the value the Fund ultimately realizes.

Expenses — The Fund shares certain costs for investment research and data services, administration and operations, travel, training, office expenses, occupancy, accounting and legal services, insurance, and other miscellaneous items with its non-controlling affiliate, Adams Diversified Equity Fund, Inc. Expenses that are not solely attributable to one fund are allocated to each fund based on relative net asset values, or in the case of investment research staff and related costs, relative market values of portfolio securities in the particular sector of coverage. Expense allocations are updated quarterly, as appropriate, except for those related to payroll, which are updated annually.

Investment Transactions, Investment Income, and Distributions — Investment transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Realized gains and losses on sales of investments are recorded on the basis of specific identification. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recognized on the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis.

Valuation — The Fund’s financial instruments are reported at fair value, which is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The Fund has a Valuation Committee (“Committee”) to ensure that financial instruments are appropriately priced at fair value in accordance with GAAP and the 1940 Act. Subject to oversight by the Board of Directors, the Committee establishes methodologies and procedures to value securities for which market quotations are not readily available.

GAAP establishes the following fair value hierarchy that categorizes the inputs used to measure fair value:

- Level 1 — fair value is determined based on market data obtained from independent sources; for example, quoted prices in active markets for identical investments;
- Level 2 — fair value is determined using other assumptions obtained from independent sources; for example, quoted prices for similar investments;
- Level 3 — fair value is determined using the Fund’s own assumptions, developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

Investments in securities traded on national security exchanges are valued at the last reported sale price as of the close of regular trading on the relevant exchange on the day of valuation. Over-the-counter and listed securities for which a sale price is not available are valued at the last quoted bid price. Money market funds are valued at net asset value. These securities are generally categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy.

Short-term investments (excluding money market funds) are valued at amortized cost, which approximates fair value. Total return swap agreements are valued using independent, observable inputs, including underlying security prices, dividends, and interest rates. These securities are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)

At December 31, 2015, the Fund's financial instruments were classified as follows:

	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3	Total
Assets:
Common stocks	$576,898,329	—	—	$576,898,329
Short-term investments	5,978,000	—	—	5,978,000
Total investments	$582,876,329	—	—	$582,876,329

There were no transfers between levels during the year ended December 31, 2015.

2. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

No federal income tax provision is required since the Fund's policy is to qualify as a regulated investment company under the Internal Revenue Code and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income and gains to its shareholders. Additionally, management has analyzed and concluded that tax positions included in federal income tax returns from the previous three years that remain subject to examination do not require any provision. Any income tax-related interest or penalties would be recognized as income tax expense.

As of December 31, 2015, the identified cost of securities for federal income tax purposes was $488,157,708 and net unrealized appreciation aggregated $94,718,621, consisting of gross unrealized appreciation of $175,792,272 and gross unrealized depreciation of $81,073,651.

Distributions are determined in accordance with the Fund's annual 6% minimum distribution rate commitment, based on the Fund's average market price, and income tax regulations, which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. Such differences are primarily related to the Fund's retirement plans and equity-based compensation. Differences that are permanent, while not material for the year ended December 31, 2015, are reclassified in the capital accounts of the Fund's financial statements and have no impact on net assets. For tax purposes, distributions paid by the Fund during the years ended December 31, 2015 and December 31, 2014 were classified as ordinary income of $10,407,286 and $16,788,488, respectively, and as long-term capital gain of $27,385,241 and $33,566,928, respectively. The tax basis of distributable earnings at December 31, 2015 was $692,331 of undistributed ordinary income and $1,157,487 of undistributed long-term capital gain.

3. INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS

The Fund's investment decisions are made by the portfolio management team with recommendations from the research staff. Purchases and sales of portfolio investments, other than short-term investments, during the year ended December 31, 2015 were $109,161,300 and $127,910,610, respectively.

4. DERIVATIVES

During the year ended December 31, 2015, the Fund invested in derivative instruments. The Fund may use derivatives for a variety of purposes, including, but not limited to, the ability to obtain leverage, to gain or limit exposure to particular market sectors or securities, to provide additional income, and/or to limit equity price risk in the normal course of pursuing its investment objectives. The financial derivative instruments outstanding as of year-end and the amounts of realized and changes in unrealized gains and losses on financial derivative instruments during the year indicate the volume of financial derivative activity for the period.

Total Return Swap Agreements—The Fund may use total return swap agreements to manage exposure to certain risks and/or to enhance performance. Total return swap agreements are bilateral contracts between the Fund and a counterparty in which the Fund, in the case of a long contract, agrees to receive the positive total return (and pay the negative total return) of an underlying equity security and to pay a financing amount, based on a notional amount and a referenced interest rate, over the term of the contract. In the case of a short contract, the Fund agrees to pay the positive total return (and receive the negative total return) of the underlying equity security and to receive or pay a financing rate, based on a notional amount and a referenced interest rate, over the term of the contract. The fair value of each total return swap agreement is determined daily with the change in the fair value recorded as an unrealized gain or loss in the Statement of Operations. Upon termination of a swap agreement, the Fund recognizes a realized gain (loss) on total return swap agreements in the Statement of Operations equal to the net receivable (payable) amount under the terms of the agreement.

Total return swap agreements entail risks associated with counterparty credit, liquidity, and equity price risk. Such risks include that the Fund or the counterparty may default on its obligation, that there is no liquid market for these agreements, and that there may be unfavorable changes in the price of the underlying equity security. To mitigate the Fund's counterparty credit risk, the Fund enters into master netting and collateral arrangements with the counterparty. A master netting agreement allows either party to terminate the contract prior to termination date and to net amounts due across multiple contracts upon settlement, providing for a single net settlement with a counterparty. Pursuant to master netting arrangements, the net cumulative unrealized gain (asset) on open total return swap agreements and net cumulative unrealized loss (liability) on open total return swap agreements are presented in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. The Fund's policy is to net all derivative instruments subject to a netting agreement.

A collateral arrangement requires each party to provide collateral with a value, adjusted daily and subject to a minimum transfer amount, equal to the net amount owed to the other party under the contract. The counterparty provides cash collateral to the Fund and the Fund provides collateral by segregating portfolio securities, subject to a valuation allowance, into a tri-party account at its custodian. As of December 31, 2015, there were no open swap agreements, no securities pledged by the Fund, and no cash collateral was held by the Fund.

Written Options — The Fund may write option contracts to increase or decrease its equity price risk exposure or to generate additional income. Option contracts generally entail risks associated with counterparty credit, liquidity, and unfavorable equity price movements. The Fund has mitigated counterparty credit and liquidity risks by trading its options through an exchange. The risk of unfavorable equity price movements is limited by writing only covered call or collateralized put option contracts, which require the Fund to segregate certain securities or cash at its custodian when the option is written.

When the Fund writes an option, an amount equal to the premium received by the Fund is recorded as a liability and is subsequently marked to market daily in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities, with any related change recorded as an unrealized gain or loss in the Statement of Operations. Premiums received from unexercised options are treated as realized gains on the expiration date and separately identified in the Statement of Operations. Upon the exercise of written put option contracts, premiums received are deducted from the cost basis of the underlying securities purchased. Upon the exercise of written call option contracts, premiums received are added to the proceeds from the sale of the underlying securities in determining whether there is a realized gain or loss.

Transactions in written covered call and collateralized put options during the year ended December 31, 2015 were as follows:

	Covered Calls		Collateralized Puts
	Contracts	Premiums	Contracts	Premiums
Options outstanding, December 31, 2014	1,900	$ 197,996	1,600	$ 245,328

6. RETIREMENT PLANS

Defined Contribution Plans—The Fund sponsors a qualified defined contribution plan for all employees with at least six months of service and a nonqualified defined contribution plan for eligible employees to supplement the qualified plan. The Fund expensed contributions to the plans in the amount of $259,623, a portion thereof based on Fund performance, for the year ended December 31, 2015.

Defined Benefit Plans—Upon receiving regulatory approval in 2015, the Fund completed the termination of its qualified defined benefit plan by contributing an additional $862,157 and then utilizing plan assets to satisfy all pension-related liabilities. Additionally, the Fund paid $1,877,465 to satisfy all pension-related liabilities of its non-qualified defined benefit plan and completed the termination of that plan as well. As of December 31, 2015, the Fund has no further defined benefit pension liabilities. In terminating these plans, the Fund incurred non-recurring settlement costs during the period. These costs represent amounts to satisfy all pension obligations in excess of the previously-recorded pension liability and any unamortized actuarial losses remaining in accumulated other comprehensive income at the time of termination.

The accumulated benefit obligation for all defined benefit pension plans was $0 and $5,744,402 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

Items impacting the Fund's pension cost and accumulated other comprehensive income were:

	2015	2014
Components of pension cost
Interest cost	$ 76,010	$ 187,700
Expected return on plan assets	(18,557)	(22,245)
Net loss component	82,336	96,519
Effect of settlement (non-recurring)	2,762,816	—
Pension cost	$ 2,902,605	$ 261,974

	2015	2014

Reclassifications to net periodic pension cost:
Amortization of net loss	82,336	96,519
Effect of settlement (non-recurring)	1,349,979	—
Balance at end of year (comprised of net actuarial losses)	$ —	$(1,432,315)

Assumptions used to determine benefit obligations and net periodic pension cost were:

	2015	2014
Discount rate (benefit obligations)	—	2.94%
Discount rate (net periodic pension cost)	2.94%	3.81%
Rate of compensation increase	—	—
Expected return on plan assets	1.80%	1.20%

The assumption used to determine expected return on plan assets was based on historical and future expected returns of multiple asset classes in order to develop a risk-free real rate of return and risk premiums for each asset class. The overall rate for each asset class was developed by combining a long-term inflation component, the risk-free real rate of return, and the associated risk premium. A weighted average rate was developed based on those overall rates and the target asset allocation of the plan.

7. EQUITY-BASED COMPENSATION

The 2005 Equity Incentive Compensation Plan (“2005 Plan”), adopted at the 2005 Annual Meeting and reapproved at the 2010 Annual Meeting, permits the granting of restricted stock awards (both performance and nonperformance-based), as well as stock option and other stock incentives, to all employees and nonemployee directors. The 2005 Plan expired on April 27, 2015, and, therefore, no additional shares are available for future grants at this time. Under the terms in the now-expired 2005 Plan, for grants issued prior to expiration, restricted stock awards typically have a three-year vesting period. For performance-based restricted stock awards, the ultimate number of shares earned is contingent on achieving certain performance targets. If performance targets are not achieved, all or a portion of the restricted shares are forfeited. The 2005 Plan provides for accelerated vesting in the event of death or retirement. Outstanding awards were granted at fair market value on grant date (determined by the average of the high and low price on that date).

Awards	Shares/Units	Weighted Average Grant-Date Fair Value
Balance at December 31, 2014	64,938	$27.60
Granted:
Restricted stock	15,675	23.39
Deferred stock units	1,592	20.68
Vested & issued	(15,459)	26.36
Forfeited	(584)	25.01
Balance at December 31, 2015 (includes 8,025 performance-based awards and 58,137 nonperformance-based awards)	66,162	$27.09

Compensation cost resulting from awards granted under the 2005 Plan are based on the fair market value of the award on grant date and recognized on a straight-line basis over the requisite service period. For those awards with performance conditions, compensation costs are based on the most probable outcome and, if such goals are not met, compensation cost is not recognized and any previously recognized compensation cost is reversed. The total compensation cost for restricted stock granted to employees for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $438,335. The total compensation costs for restricted stock units granted to non-employee directors for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $19,586. As of December 31, 2015, there were total unrecognized compensation costs of $467,698, a component of additional capital surplus, related to nonvested equity-based compensation arrangements granted under the 2005 Plan. That cost is expected to be recognized over a weighted average period of 1.55 years. The total fair value of shares and units vested and issued during the year ended December 31, 2015 was $355,913.

8. OFFICER AND DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

The aggregate remuneration paid by the Fund during the year ended December 31, 2015 to officers and directors amounted to $3,187,964, of which $482,915 was paid to directors who were not officers. These amounts represent the taxable income to the Fund’s officers and directors and, therefore, differ from the amounts reported in the accompanying Statement of Operations that are recorded and expensed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

9. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES LOANED

The Fund makes loans of securities to approved brokers to earn additional income. It receives as collateral cash deposits, U.S. Government securities, or bank letters of credit valued at 102% of the value of the securities on loan. The market value of the loaned securities is calculated based upon the most recent closing prices and any additional required collateral is delivered to the Fund on the next business day. Cash deposits are placed in a registered money market fund. The Fund accounts for securities lending transactions as secured financing and receives compensation in the form of fees or retains a portion of interest on the investment of any cash received as collateral. The Fund also continues to receive interest or dividends on the securities loaned. Gain or loss in the fair value of the securities loaned that may occur during the term of the loan will be for the account of the Fund. At December 31, 2015, the Fund had no securities on loan. The Fund is indemnified by the Custodian, serving as lending agent, for the loss of loaned securities and has the right under the lending agreement to recover the securities from the borrower on demand.

10. OPERATING LEASE COMMITMENTS

The Fund leases office space and equipment under operating lease agreements expiring at various dates through the year 2026. The Fund recognized rental expense of $220,378 in 2015, and its minimum rental commitments are as follows:

2016	$ 68,726

* The annual distribution rate is the total dividends and capital gain distributions during the year divided by the Fund's average month-end stock price. For years prior to 2012, the average month-end stock price is determined for the calendar year. For 2012 and later, the average month-end stock price is determined for the twelve months ended October 31, which is consistent with the calculation used for the annual 6% minimum distribution rate commitment adopted in September 2012.

Dividend Payment Schedule

The Fund presently pays dividends four times a year, as follows: (a) three interim distributions on or about March 1, June 1, and September 1, and (b) a “year-end” distribution, payable in late December, consisting of the estimated balance of the net investment income for the year, the net realized capital gains earned through October 31 and, if applicable, a return of capital. Shareholders may elect to receive the year-end distribution in stock or cash. In connection with this distribution, all shareholders of record are sent a dividend announcement notice and an election card in mid-November. Shareholders holding shares in “street” or brokerage accounts may make their election by notifying their brokerage house representative.

INVESTORS CHOICE

INVESTORS CHOICE is a direct stock purchase and sale plan, as well as a dividend reinvestment plan, sponsored and administered by our transfer agent, American Stock Transfer & Trust Company (AST). The Plan provides registered shareholders and interested first time investors an affordable alternative for buying, selling, and reinvesting in Fund shares. A brochure which further details the benefits and features of INVESTORS CHOICE as well as an enrollment form may be obtained by contacting AST.
